

L.A. LIFE WEEKEND

DAILY NEWS

WEEKEND'S BEST

Marianne Curan, left, Dai Kornberg, John Simmons, Larry Coven, Chuck Kovacic, John Roarke and Doug Cox: Gross National Product

COMEDY

Primary comedy: The California primary is just around the corner and what better way to pick your candidate than to study the GNP — Gross National Product comedy troupe.

Led by primo George Bush impersonator John Simmons, this Washington-based group skewers everyone from Ross Perot to Sam Donaldson. They've also got their own ideas about the Supreme Court (a Sandra Day O'Connor impersonator sings "Love Child"). Ronald Reagan. CNN and Crown Books TV ads. (Referring to the recent riots, one wag mimics. "If you bought it off the back of a truck, it was probably looted from Crown Books.")

Performances are 8 p.m. Thursdays and Fridays, 7:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays at the Odyssey Theatre in West Los Angeles, through June 21. Tickets are $15. For reservations and information, call (310) 477-2055.

— Jody Leader